Foreword

Danjoo Koorliny Walking Together Towards 2029 and Beyond: Voice, Treaty, Truth Summit

For the first time we're having a Social Impact Festival designed and led by Aboriginal leaders, sharing wisdom to help us all co-plan and co-create a better future for everyone.

Danjoo Koorliny Walking Together Towards 2029 and Beyond: Voice, Treaty, Truth Summit has been designed and will be led by Aboriginal leaders Dr Noel Nannup OAM, Dr Richard Walley OAM, Prof Colleen Hayward AM and Carol Innes.

The year 2029 will mark 200 years of colonisation in Perth; we are 10 years away from that point. During the two-day summit we will explore - through keynote lectures, yarning panels, panel presentations and yarning circles - positive change already under way in a number of social areas, and co-discover the most important steps for moving forward.

We will be co-creating a 10-year plan with actions and outcomes for how we will walk together towards 2029 and beyond.

Katie Stuble
Co-Director, Social Impact Festival

Professor Paul Flatau
Director, Centre for Social Impact UWA

About the Centre for Social Impact UWA

Danjoo Koorliny Walking Together Towards 2029 and Beyond: Voice, Treaty, Truth Summit, along with the Social Impact Festival as a whole, is hosted by the Centre for Social Impact at The University of Western Australia (CSI UWA). This year's festival has been designed and will be led by Aboriginal leaders Dr Noel Nannup OAM, Dr Richard Walley OAM, Prof Colleen Hayward AM and Carol Innes.

CSI UWA is a catalyst for change in our world, creating and delivering education that transforms, research that informs best practice, and public engagement that inspires and mobilises change makers. Visit socialimpactfestival.org for more information.

About the Hosts

Dr Noel Nannup OAM is a well-respected Nyoongar Elder. He is a known story teller and cultural guide, instructor and mentor. Throughout Noel's life he has worked to promote public awareness of the importance of caring for the environment. His career has been dedicated to educating young Western Australians about the rich cultural heritage of Aboriginal people and their lands; and, throughout that process, Noel has played an active and leading role in reconciliation.

Dr Richard Walley OAM is a Noongar man and one of Australia's leading Aboriginal performers, musicians and writers. Richard is a working director of his family-owned business, Aboriginal Productions and Promotions, which delivers cultural awareness and learning programs and has been in operation for over 25 years. Richard is a committed leader in the promotion of Noongar culture, and has extensive experience working alongside Australian and international organisations as a cultural consultant and presenter.

About the Hosts

Prof Colleen Hayward AM is a senior Noongar woman with extensive family links throughout the south-west of WA. Until her recent retirement, she was the head of Kurongkurl Katitjin, ECU's Centre for Indigenous Education and Research and Pro-Vice-Chancellor, Equity and Indigenous across the University. For more than 30 years, Colleen has provided significant input to policies and programs on a wide range of issues, reflecting the needs of minority groups at community, state and national levels. She has an extensive background in a range of areas as well as significant experience in policy and management.

Carol Innes is a cultural advocate working in government: a mentor, consultant, board director and project manager. Carol is currently Co-Chair of Reconciliation WA, board member North Metropolitan Health Service, board member Glass Jars (Netball WA), and is an advisory member to Kalamunda Arts Committee. Carol has worked in not-for-profit organisations, arts and cultural organisations, state and federal government agencies, and Aboriginal-controlled community organisations. Carol is a certified trainer and assessor, facilitator and advocate of community cultural development.

From Our Major Supporter

Lotterywest is proud to support the 2019 Social Impact Festival, and its mantra of 'Danjoo Koorliny Walking Together Towards a Just and Sustainable Society', certainly aligns with our own organisational vision of 'Building a better Western Australia, together'.

Lotterywest's contribution to the festival includes supporting live streaming capabilities of the proceedings (festival opening), making the event accessible for those living in rural and remote areas. WA may be geographically vast, but we should always ensure that we incorporate and include the input of people and communities throughout the State.

For more than 85 years Lotterywest has remained true to its original purpose by raising money to create a better society. Events such as this one are worthy to help us all achieve that goal. I urge all participants to take the learnings from the festival and put them into practice to make a difference to our community.

I acknowledge and thank the University of Western Australia and everyone who has made this event possible.

Susan Hunt PSM
CEO, Lotterywest
